

Condé Nast Traveler

July 1, 2014

Where to Watch the 4th of July Fireworks In NYC

After a few years on Manhattan's west side, the Macy's 4th of July pyrotechnics display moves back on the East River, with more than 40,000 fireworks being set off from barges near the Brooklyn Bridge. If you want to join the millions of spectators, here's where to go.

THE JAMES HOTEL

This Manhattan hotel's stylish lounge, Jimmy at the James, has planned what sounds like a fancy cookout for hotel guests: There'll be Kobe beef pigs-in-a-blanket and cheddar-and-apple grilled cheese sandwiches, along with signature cocktails and frozen drinks. The hotel's Soho location means it should have a good vantage point of the East River.